Jill McCarron Trio: “Gin”

Although born in Minneapolis, Jill was raised in Canada where she attended Toronto’s Humber College majoring in jazz performance. She began her professional career playing clubs in Toronto and Montreal garnering a following due to her swingin’ playing and stage presence. After being awarded a Canada Council Grant she seized the opportunity to relocate to NYC. In 1991 Jill became the resident pianist at Manhattan’s famed Harvard Club where she remained until 2017 opting to tour with Randy Brecker, Don Braden, Vincent Herring, and others. For her new outing “Gin,” Jill wrote the “Gin Suite” in three movements alongside some covers and other originals. Her guests include the aforementioned plus Ada Rovatti. A clear candidate for a top ten positioning of 2024 end-of-year albums.
